Deputy Chief Mechanical Engineer of
Angarsk Petrochemical Company, JSC

We began by implementing the system in the process units related to our primary plants. So far, the COMPACS system has proved to be a highly reliable product. As the younger generation comes—it is very difficult for them to see what the causes of machinery faults are. The COMPACS system helps them a lot. It helps them to understand and analyze what causes a machinery shutdown. Young specialists are learning from this system better than from the experience of the older ones.
